Cult of Wind presents a comical looking and original gameplay in an over the shoulder shooter.

Heck, it looks great since it has Steamworks for map creation so you can whip up your own temple to the sky god. Sadly, the delivery is an absolute nose dive. Whereas most multiplayer games would have several dedicated servers running, Cult of Wind only has one which is empty. Even with it being on sale at $2, I was hoping for some fun only to experience absolute defeat when I saw there is nobody else playing, not even privately hosted servers. It doesn't help that the developer has done nothing since the game left early access back in 2014.

The combination of an inactive player base and a missing in action developer leads me to conclude that this game dead, just like the airplanes that once flew.. Well, can't recommend it as a game, but I did enjoy the story of the 3 siblings, living a simple happy life. Unlike their other project, I got the point of this one, so yeah, I could recommend somebody to spend 5 mintues having a look at it.. This game doesn't really support a gamepad.

My gamepad is a speedlink torid, that supports both XInput & DirectInput - in both modes, only the left and right movement were recognized by the game.

Therefore, I give this game an F.

Like failing to support a controller.. This game is really great for tons of people, mainly gays and women, but not me!. If you haven't already played this on a PS3 (say, by not having one), this is a fun twin-stick action puzzler, with cute visuals and good audio production.

Supports PS3 controller on OS X flawlessly.. looksed fun, but, quicl;y you realize its unstable, thruster system sux, and the building is sloppy, its mechanics work bout 50% of the time, and out of nowhere your habitats just explode, it also warns you of an attack when it wants, sometimes when nanoclouds start tracking you sometimes only after one has began destroyings your habitat, this game is very annoying.....

new update finaly giving us save options yay, this game will be a lil less annoying i think, havent played it since i wrote this review, time to break it out and give it another go....

well it now dictates how we build our structures/ships its alot more annoying then before sorry but its a meh game dont buy..... This game legit creates 50 of you lagging the game out to where one swing takes 30 seconds to load in. Fun simple game, a few more features would be nice though. Such as maybe single use power ups you can purchase with coins as, now that I have unlocked the crown, I am just collecting coins for nothing which feels a bit useless.

The jump is also a bit buggy/vlaggy for me at times causing me to die but overall the game is decent, good for a casual play.

edit: gonna change it to not reccomended until the jump lag is fixed because it's annoying and frustrating when you keep dying because of it. I picked this up during the 2018 summer sale and enjoyed playing it. It is a typical HOG with extra things to look for such as fingerprints and lost jewelry. I liked the graphics and voice acting. There is a map and it's a shame that it didn't let you move locations with it - but the lack of this feature wasn't a show stopper. Overall, I liked this game and I was happy I bought it.

Lots of things to see. The statues could be of a higher quality though, and the scale is a bit off sometimes.. Oh my! I used to have a CD of this lying around ages ago and I picked it up immediately when it came up on Steam, because it was just a fiver.

It's a pleasant boat racing / freeroam cruising game with a lot of unlocks, a handful of pretty, visually distinct locations and a great chilled-out soundtrack. Don't expect anything amazing with that price tag. The game is a competent, pleasant little package nonetheless.. Wouldn't pay more than 99c for this game but kudos to the designers for knowing what it's worth. Thanks for listing it appropriately.

The mechanics of bullet hell games typically make it where it is beatable based on a certain pattern. This one dynamically shifts according to the position of the user, it's not wrong, or bad, but it's definitely not fun for me. I'm done with it. No offense to the creator of course, it was reasonably priced, but it feels like it's unfinished. There was a point that I tried to restart the level on my controller and it refused to acknowledge the restart command in the menu during the song.

Perhaps I should rephrase, strong effort, it's really obvious this is a first game for this company, but I wouldn't refrain from purchasing more from them in the future, if only for the sake of beta-testing and helping out, I like the direction they are going in. I also appreciate the price, I have no regrets regarding my purchase of it, and I do recommend it, even if it feels a little off compared to most bullet-hell games due to the extremely reasonable price, and the consistent responses from the developer.. If I ever needed more bottle sitting experience I don't think I would find a more appropriate simulation. The graphics kept my mind stimulated continuously though I felt that more bottle options would have kept me entertained for perhaps another 300 bottle sittings.. where's the online coop??????. this rpg is awesome but for the love of steam, PLEASE, add more save chances!
